The Legendary Notebook

The Moleskine notebook is the heir and successor to the legendary notebook used by artists and thinkers over the past two centuries: among them Vincent Van Gogh, Pablo Picasso, Ernest Hemingway and Bruce Chatwin.

Today, it is celebrated in pop culture as a contemporary icon, an inviting blank space where your own words and sketches join you to an ever-evolving relay of creativity.

A Creative History

In his book The Songlines, Chatwin tells the story of the little black notebook: in 1986, the manufacturer, a small family-owned company in the French city of Tours, went out of business. "Le vrai moleskine n'est plus" are the lapidary words he puts into the mouth of the owner of the stationery shop in Rue de l'Ancienne Comédie where he usually purchased his notebooks. Chatwin set about buying up all the notebooks that he could find before his departure for Australia, but they were still not enough.

In 1997, the company known today as Moleskine brought the legendary notebook back to life.

Our Manifesto

At Moleskine we believe in the timeless power of handwriting as an essential expression of human civilization, a powerful act to unleash human genius and foster the development and sharing of literacy and knowledge. In a fast-paced technological era, we proudly celebrate the artistry of the human touch; the enduring pleasure of putting pen to paper to unleash your unique voice. We celebrate the solemn, thoughtful and meditative gesture of the pen gliding across a blank page; the romance of crafting a personal story to record a lifelong memory and leave a distinguishing mark in all its unique beauty. Handwriting is both universal and deeply personal. It's a thoughtful way to express your true self and connect to others in a very intimate yet universally accessible way.

Put pen to paper, and unleash your unique voice.

Write Your Story

We strongly believe that creativity can change the world.

At the heart of this transformative force lies handwriting. For centuries, pen and paper have played a crucial role in the development of culture. And now, scientific research proves that this universal act supports brain function, mental health, memory, and more.

Every blank page holds space for human potential to be realised. Which is why we exist to unleash the genius in all of us: one page at a time.

Sustainable Creativity

Can Creativity Change the World?

Unleash human genius through hands on paper to empower creativity and knowledge in each individual and the entire world.

Moleskine believes that creativity can change the world. Human creativity is the ultimate renewable resource that we can all draw on to move society towards sustainability.

Committed to driving positive change: Moleskine supports the Moleskine Foundation and its programs to promote access to creative skills development. Because access to creativity and quality education is key to producing positive change in society and driving our collective future.

Everyone can make a difference

Our ecommerce customers can choose to donate 1% of their order on moleskine.com to a nonprofit organisation of their choice – at no extra cost. These charitable organizations were selected in collaboration with the Moleskine Foundation, because of their commitment to sparking positive social change and inspiring young people in their communities. They work in the areas of human rights, education and climate justice, using creativity as a tool for social change. Each time They add an item to their cart, they can choose which organization to support, at no extra cost.

A Moleskine never ends

"Every Moleskine notebook is a book yet to be written." Maria Sebregondi, Moleskine co-founder and president of Moleskine Foundation.

Moleskine notebooks are kept and treasured, not discarded after use. They are collected over time, our most precious stories imprinted on their ivory-colored pages.

That said, Moleskine circular economy strategy means unsellable items are recycled or repurposed. They are repurposed into creative tools donated to charitable organizations or recycled into new materials. In 2024, we donated about 23.400 products and diverted from disposal about 246 tons.

If you ever have to separate yourself from your beloved notebooks, be sure to remove the cover from the pages for recycling to continue this circular process.

Nurturing our Forests

Forests are a precious part of our planet and our lives. This is why Moleskine is fully committed to their responsible management by nurturing, restoring and protecting forests, their ecosystem and communities: Moleskine has been FSC™ certified since 2008 to support the mission of the Forest Stewardship Council™. Look for our FSC™ certified products.

About FSC™

For over 25 years, FSC™ (Forest Stewardship Council™) has promoted environmentally appropriate, socially beneficial, and economically viable management of the world's forests. It is the leading catalyst and defining force for improved forest management and market transformation, shifting the global forest trend toward sustainable use, conservation, restoration, and respect for all.

Sustainable Creativity

Acting on Climate Change

Our emissions reduction targets have been validated by the Science Based Targets initiative (SBTi) as consistent with levels required to meet the goals of the Paris Climate Agreement.

We recognize the urgency of acting on climate change, and we believe that we all have a critical role to play in the transition to a low-carbon future by adopting more sustainable practices.

That's why we have set science-based targets to reduce our own emissions as well as emissions throughout our value chain. One of the keystones of the plan is to achieve a 42% carbon footprint reduction by 2030 in Scope 1 and 2.

Joining the SBTi is the latest chapter in our quest to bring about positive change and to drive our collective future.

Be your authentic self

At Moleskine, we believe in the fundamental value of inclusivity, always.

We support equality and diversity and encourage our community to use our collective intellectual and emotional curiosity to immerse ourselves in the wealth and beauty of diversity. We seek to enrich each other through our differences and ultimately change society through creativity.

These beliefs are expressed through actual actions. The Moleskine recruitment process welcomes different nationalities, languages, ethnicities, and educational backgrounds. What's more, 54% of top and middle management are women.

Care and Transparency for all People and Procedures

We care for everyone involved with Moleskine by guaranteeing transparency in all procedures. This applies both within the company and to external partners.

Our relationships with suppliers are based on trust, transparency, integrity and the guarantee of ethical behavior throughout the supply chain. Our Code of Ethics (est. 2012) is required of all third parties.

Moleskine and all our strategic suppliers are members of Sedex, one of the world's leading ethical trade organizations. Over 100% of these suppliers are compliant with the SA8000 International Social Responsibility Standard (or equivalent), and are ISO14001 certified (or equivalent).

Custom Editions - Standard Projects

There are many ways to apply a company identity to Moleskine objects, from classic printing techniques to the latest technological advances. You can discover more about each below.
Note: when printing with debossing and silkscreen, results may vary. Our team will help you make the best technical decision to communicate your story.

Foil debossing

This technique is the same that has been used for thousands of years to decorate objects using gold leaf. It creates an indentation which can be felt and the result is striking and elegant. It is available for Custom Editions in a range of colours including metallic colours (commonly gold, silver, copper or bronze). Foil debossing works beautifully with one or more colours, but has some restrictions.
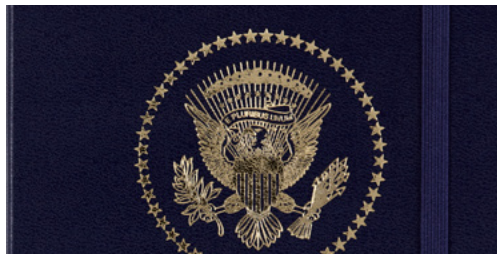

Digital foil printing

This technique produces an effect like foil debossing but without the indentation because it prints flat. This technique is mainly used to add names and initials to notebook covers.
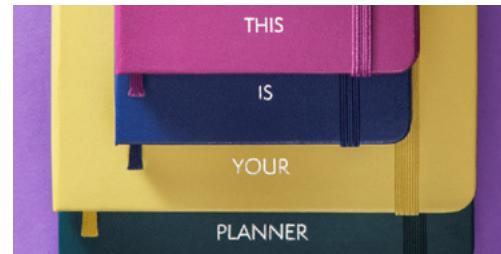

Digital printing

This is a newer technique that allows us to reproduce full colour text and images, except metallic colours, on a variety of surfaces. Despite having some restrictions, it is a great way to replicate more challenging images.

Blind debossing

Like foil debossing, this technique creates a strong indentation which can be felt. No colour foil is added so the notebook retains its original colour, creating an elegant yet discreet effect.

Silkscreen

Also called serigraphy, this is one of the oldest printing methods still in use today and results in bright, eye-catching colours. It can replicate almost any colour and therefore we always use it in printing logos and company colours. Despite some technical restrictions, this method works well with from one to four colours.
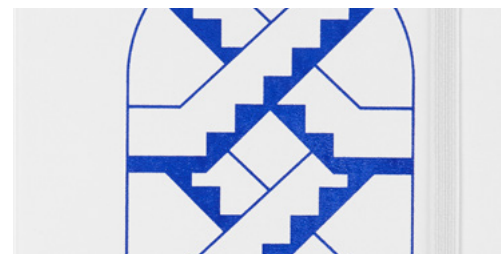

Offset printing

This technique has largely substituted letterpress and lithography due to its higher quality, faster turnover, and lower production costs. It is a paper printing technique that Moleskine uses for all of our paper add-ons such as inserts, paper-bands, flyers and gift boxes. It is available only on paper add-ons and ad hoc projects.

UNDATED PLANNER

Gold text Debossed on Front Cover

Undated Layout can be started at any point of the year

12 Months - Undated Planners/Diaries

All the practical and familiar features of a Moleskine weekly planner, minus the dates.

This undated weekly planner can be started at any point of the year. The month, week and date spaces are left blank for you to complete, allowing more flexibilty and freedom than a dated planner. By filling in the dates yourself, you can skip any gaps and only use the pages you need. Undated means you can begin using this planner whenever suits you - there's no need to wait for the year to start. You can adapt it to the academic year or fit it around your personal or professional needs. The opening pages of this planner feature timetable pages and space for travel planning, ideas and goals. Weekly notebook layout: This layout dedicates a two-page spread to each week, with the days of the week on the left opposite a ruled page for notes, to-dos and reminders on the right. This flexible layout incorporates a notebook into your planner to give you the best of both worlds. Each month contains five full and undated weeks.

– undated 12-month Classic Planner
– 12 customizable month dividers
– five undated weeks per month
– rounded corners, elastic closure and matching ribbon bookmark
